

Community Health Advocate Program

Priority Partners a Managed Care Organization from Johns Hopkins is proud to announce the Community Health Advocate program.

Priority Partners' Community Health Advocate program enlists individuals from specific geographic areas of the State to provide educational information and resources.

They provide classes through local community associations, churches, schools, health departments, Boys and Girls Clubs, Head Start, family resource centers and similar organizations.

They participate in local health fairs and community events. They know their communities and have established contacts with neighborhood organizations and government agencies. This allows them to interact on a grassroots and personal level with existing and potential Priority Partners' members.

Our Community Health Advocates offer the following programs:

- * HealthChoice/Priority Partners' Overview
- * Ask Me 3
- * Pregnancy
- * Diabetes
- * Immunizations
- * What To Do When Your Child Gets Sick
- * Lead Poisoning
- * Smoking Cessation
- * Nutrition/Obesity
- * Germs/Flu
- * Dealing With Cold Weather
- * Dental Health for Children
- * Heart/Cardiovascular Health
- * Asthma
- * Women's Health
- * Men's Health
- * What To Do When You're Having A Baby
- * Choices and Chances (Sexually Transmitted Diseases overview).
- * Parenting

All classes are available in English and Spanish.

For a Community Health Advocate contact: Indra Martinez at 301-460-0238 or imartinez@jhhc.com.